

Read the caption to get the full story

- 1. Headline: “Philippines: Child Labor and Gold Mining”
Caption: An older miner and a younger boy are chin deep in frigid water 150-meters below the surface as they work a gold mine near Syndicate on the island of Masbate. Image by Larry C. Price. Philippines, 2012.
- 2. Headline: “‘Invisible’ Domestic Workers of Singapore”
Caption: Runaway migrant workers shared a meal inside the kitchen of the shelter. Image by Xyza Bacani. Singapore, 2016.
- 3. Headline: “After Nepal’s Earthquake, a Push to Rebuild Without Child Labor”
Caption: Young boys help stack bricks inside the kiln. As many as 60,000 children work in brick kilns across Nepal. Image by Ann Hermes. Nepal, 2016.
- 4. Headline: “Exotic Pets Owners of Beijing”
Caption: Shao Jian Feng, 26, with a saltwater crocodile (Crocodylus porosus) in his home in Beijing. When fully grown this juvenile can reach up to six metres, making it the largest reptile in the world. He owns five crocodilians and two large snakes. “There are 23 crocodilian species in the world. We hope to collect all of them,” he says. Saltwater crocodiles can retail for up to 9,000 RMB ($1,500). In the wild, they are found mainly in south-east Asia and northern Australia. Image by Sean Gallagher. China, 2017.
- 5. Headline: “Syrian Refugees in Greece Are Moving Out of Camps, and Into a New Kind of Limbo”
Caption: A Syrian refugee in Greece, Ilham Alarabi thought moving from a tent to a hotel would help her family. But with five sons all under the age of seven, it has proved to be chaotic. Image by Lynsey Addario. Greece, 2016.
- 6. Headline: “Afghanistan: Drawn-Out Conflict”
Caption: Outdoor Exams. This morning the girls were doing their end of year exams together outside at Bibi Ayisha High School for Girls in Worsaj. It was a wonderful sight with them all hunched over their exam papers. Occasionally a girl would try and copy her friend and would be reprimanded by the teachers. It reminded me very much of exam rooms in England. Image by George Butler. Afghanistan, 2014.
- 7. Headline: “Venezuela’s Days of Upheaval”
Caption: [Venezuelan president Hugo Chávez’s] death was soon followed by a crash in the global oil market. Violence, hyperinflation, and a shortage of basic necessities became facts of daily life — and also cause for unrest. Image by Natalie Keyssar. Venezuela, 2016.
- 8. Headline: “Whale Hunting in Alaska: Point Hope, the Village Caught between Tradition and Climate Change”
Caption: Women throw candy, clothes and furs to elders during the traditional blanket toss at the annual whaling feast in Point Hope, Alaska. Image by Katie Orlinsky. United States, 2015.

9. Headline: "This Ungoverned Haitian City Is Fighting to Stay Alive"

Caption: Residents involved with the community group Organisation pour le Developpement de Canaan (OPCD) raise the first of three light poles they have constructed by hand in the Canaan I section of Canaan. "The government has no interest here because there is nothing in it for them," says Cherestal Dulia, a secretary general of the group. The group pools money to buy materials and meets on Sundays to cast three bags of cement and four pieces of 3/8" rebar into a single pole. In the past six months they have raised 15 of the 51 they estimate they need to reach the main road. "Next, high tension wires," says Dulia. Image by Allison Shelley. Haiti, 2018.

10. Headline: "East Africa's Queer Community Searches for a Home of Its Own"

Caption: Sweet Love (left), a transgender woman, poses for a portrait in the Children of the Sun safe house with her partner of two years, Kenneth. Image by Jake Naughton. Uganda, 2017.